Genesis Educational and Charitable Trust (GECT) a charitable trust which was founded on the 21st April, 2009 was created to develop a sustainable ecosystem for the helpless men, women and children who have no source of income or livelihood. For the last 15 years and counting, Genesis Educational and Charitable Trust (GECT) with its entire team, has worked towards the UNESCO and Sustainable Development Goals such as to eradicate Poverty and Hunger, inculcate within the underprivileged children to educate themselves and establish a career and also to create a self-sustainable mode of income for the helpless young widowed women. 2009 was earmarked by our team of Founders, Trustee Members, Committee Members and Volunteers to be in tuned towards the Sustainable Development Goals such as Good Health and Well-Being, Quality Education, Zero Hunger, Clean Water and Sanitation, Industry, Innovation, Infrastructure, Sustainable Cities and Communities, Climate Action, Life on Land and Below Water, No Poverty, Affordable and Clean Energy and Gender Equality. GECT takes measures to protect the UNESCO Heritage Site the mangrove forests of Sundarbans, the Royal Bengal Tigers and the Tiger Victim Families. Our pledge is to protect the lives and livelihood of the human and the tigers of Sundarbans. The Project Ritu Sanitary Napkins was the need of the hour for the young girls and the young women in Sundarbans as they would use ash, dirty used cloths and unhygienic materials during their periods. The Ritu Sanitary Napkins was formed in 2019 was headed by Dr. Olivia Dunlop which has till date served more than 50,000 girls and women month on month who have received sanitary napkins at their doorsteps free of cost by our volunteers who are women of Sundarbans trained for the same. Our work was recognized and we received the BEST WOMEN HYGIENE INITIATIVE AWARDS 2024 at INDIAN CSR AWARDS 2024, New Delhi.
